

What a Job! Willa Budiman, SAGE Automation

THURSDAY 13 FEBRUARY @ 12:30PM

In our first What a Job! session of the year, hear from Willa Budiman, Systems Engineer at SAGE Automation, about her career. These informal sessions are exclusive for NAWO members and are an incredible opportunity to hear from inspiring women in operations.

Willa Budiman is a Systems Engineer at SAGE Automation, with experience in Supervisory Control and Data Acquisition (SCADA) systems development, testing and commissioning for water applications. Additionally, she enjoys technical writing and data visualisation, having been involved in developing the Environmental Report for SAGE Group and Power Dashboard for Oz Minerals. She works systematically to solve problems and is a natural team player who provides technical support in various projects.
