

Coffee & Connection in Toowoomba at KindHer Threads

TUESDAY 26 MAY | 7:30AM - 9:00AM

Learn about a local charity creating social impact through fashion, enjoy coffee on us, and pick up practical styling insights along the way.

NAWO is pleased to host a relaxed morning of connection at KindHer Threads, a Toowoomba-based registered charity using fashion as a tool to create confidence, dignity and meaningful social impact.

KindHer Threads supports women from all walks and seasons of life to feel seen, valued and confident. Through personalised styling experiences grounded in wellbeing and genuine human connection, the organisation helps women show up in their lives, and work, with greater self-belief.

This event is first and foremost about connection. It's a chance to meet others in the Toowoomba region, learn about a local organisation making a real difference, and enjoy a welcoming space to build relationships.

Alongside sharing the story of KindHer Threads, CEO Cindy Nicollet will offer a few practical styling tips, simple ideas for approaching clothing with intention and getting more confidence & versatility from what you already have.

The National Association of Women in Operations (NAWO) supports people to lead more inclusively, provides a safe space to ask questions and have conversations that help achieve greater gender balance.

We support all women in achieving their career goals: providing meaningful connections, inspiring role models and offering development opportunities to activate their full potential.
